Project Story: Proludic's design for Langdon Hills is based on the message of biodiversity and the variety of plant and animal life locally. Langdon Hills play area is set within the recreation ground against a backdrop of a dense forest that was the inspiration for the design. The play area comprises of two distinct zones: 'Under the Water' is the younger area, while, 'Above land & in the sky,' is aimed at juniors.

Within the 'Under the Water Zone,' we provided a sunken blue wet pour area that replicates a pond including pondlife minibeast graphics. The 'Above land & in the sky' zone takes inspiration from a mixture of airbourne wildlife alongside wildflowers influenced by a rare orchid growing nearby.

To offer the users a WOW factor Proludic installed our 4-meter pyramid climbing net alongside a Tree House multiplay unit with a 3-meter enclosed spiral slide. This serves as a beacon to play across the recreation ground. The Themed Tree House imposes its presence through its colours and choice of materials that reflect those found in its natural surroundings. For quiet time away from the hustle & bustle of the main play area, there is a bespoke Story Telling circle, located under the trees.

« Proludic always deliver to our high expectations with the upmost professionalism. »
