A three-phase project showcasing long-term client trust in Proludic

Proludic's partnership with Great Glen Parish Council has developed into a flagship example of how thoughtful, phased investment can transform a community play space into a vibrant, inclusive, and multi-generational destination. Delivered over three carefully planned phases, the project reflects the council's confidence in Proludic's design expertise, product quality, and consistent delivery - with each stage building on the last to enrich play value for residents of all ages and abilities.

Phase 1: Creating a Central Play Landmark

The project began with the installation of a large Diabolo Adventure MPU, a dynamic, multi-play unit designed to encourage collaborative play among children of all ages. This impressive structure immediately became the focal point of the site, offering a wide range of climbing, sliding, balancing, and imaginative play opportunities. The success of this first phase established a strong foundation for a long-term partnership.

Seeing this project evolve over three phases has been a fantastic example of how strong partnerships and thoughtful design can create lasting value for the whole community.

Phase 2: Expanding Inclusivity and Activity Options

Following extremely positive community feedback, Great Glen confidently moved into Phase 2 - a major investment in inclusive play. This stage featured key additions such as the Inclusive Jeep, a large trampoline, and the wheelchair-accessible seesaw, ensuring that children with varying physical abilities could enjoy rich and meaningful play experiences.

To broaden the physical challenge offering, Proludic also introduced elements from its Ninja range, including the Ninja Climbing Slope and Monkey Bars, encouraging older children to test their strength, coordination, and agility. Recognising the importance of creating a space for all ages, the council also opted to install outdoor gym equipment, enabling adults to stay active alongside their children.

Phase 3: Enhancing Accessibility and Play Value

Most recently, Proludic delivered Phase 3 - further strengthening Great Glen's commitment to high-quality inclusive play. This stage included additional inclusive equipment, a new seesaw, and a double-width embankment slide, offering a social sliding experience suitable for younger users and children with additional needs. A selection of supplementary items were also added to enhance play variety and ensure the space continues to evolve with community needs.

A Model of Sustainable, Community-Focused Design

Across all three phases, Great Glen Parish Council has demonstrated trust in Proludic's ability to deliver imaginative, inclusive, and robust play solutions. The result is a welcoming, accessible environment that supports physical activity, creativity, social interaction, and family wellbeing - a space the community can be proud of for years to come.
