Project Story: The Rickyard Play Area in Lower Shelton required a complete refurbishment due to limited play experiences on offer. The existing footprint was very limiting in size and the safety surfacing also needed attention. Proludic provided up to 17 users the opportunity to engage in 16 different play values from just three pieces of its equipment. The focal point is a unique Diabolo Multiplay Unit (J3867), which also has a swing built onto the side. The new play area now offers sliding, swinging, rotating, springing, climbing and tactile and sensory activities.

The Tithe Farm Play Area in Langford had new play equipment recently installed and as part of the service Proludic gave this a clean. We also extended the existing footprint of the play area and introduced new play experiences which were not on offer in the park. By including a springer seesaw (J827) and an inclusive roundabout (J2400), children can now enjoy the thrill of rotating at speed and rocking.

Central Bedfordshire Council has worked with Proludic for many years on a variety of projects. They invited Proludic to use their experience once again on two sites that needed renovation but with a modest budget of £40,000.

Proludic undertook an audit of both sites and created a proposal that offers users as many play experiences as possible for children of all ages and abilities.
